NEW NONPROFIT BIRTHED OUT OF WIN

WIN board member Nita Belles has been doing anti-human trafficking work for 10 years. For the last several years she has worked under WIN as a fiscal agent. By 2015 her work got bigger than she ever imagined and it became apparent that her organization, In Our Backyard, needed to form it's own 501c3. In Our Backyard applied for their 501c3 status and received it in record time and now are growing faster than ever.

"Without the organizational and financial support of WIN, In Our Backyard would not be where it is today. Many thousands have been made aware of human trafficking and hundreds of victims and survivors have been helped as a result of WIN's financial help and WIN's executive director, Gabriella vanBreda's continual support and advice. In Our Backyard and all of those who are no longer trafficked because of WIN's support and many who will never be trafficked will forever be grateful for the support of WIN. In Our Backyard's mission statement is 'Linking Arms Across America In The Fight Against Human Trafficking.' We are proud and honored to link arms with WIN!"

THE NEW INTERNATIONAL UNIVERSITY

Education as the New Missions Frontier

FOR OVER TWO DECADES WORLD IMPACT NETWORK'S EDUCATIONAL EFFORTS HAVE BROUGHT VISION, HOPE AND MUCH NEEDED PRACTICAL HIGHER EDUCATION TO LEADERS IN MARGINALIZED AND REPRESSED COMMUNITIES SO THAT THEY TOO CAN ACHIEVE THEIR HIGHEST POTENTIAL TOWARDS PERSONAL DEVELOPMENT AND COMMUNITY CHANGE.

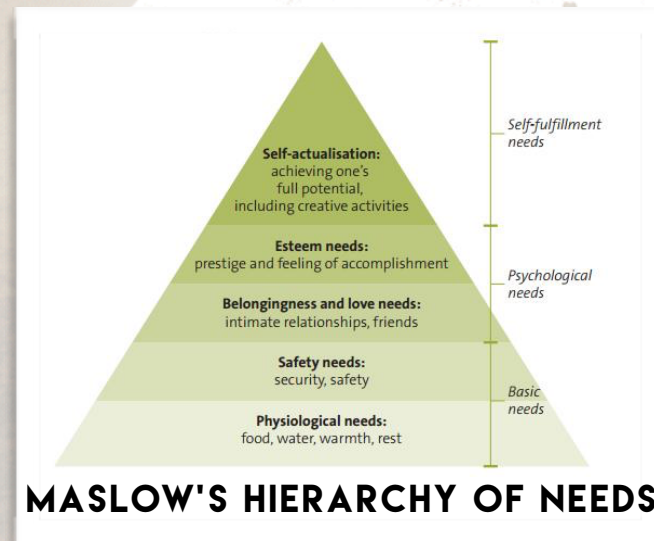

One need look no further than Maslow's Hierarchy of Needs to understand why many in the emerging world are not reaching their highest potential. An example of achievement would be Nobel laureates. The highest percentage of Nobel laureates are from Western nations. In my view, the reason for this is that those living in the West are able to achieve self-actualization.

Abraham Harold Maslow was an American psychologist who was best known for creating Maslow's hierarchy of needs, a theory of psychological health predicated on fulfilling innate human needs in priority,

According to Maslow, in order to achieve self actualization, individuals need to have their basic needs met. These needs include:

- Physiological Needs: food, water, warmth, rest;
- Safety Needs: security and safety;
- Belonging and Love Needs: intimate relationships and friends
- Esteem Needs: prestige and feeling of acceptance;
- Self-Actualization: achieving ones full potential including creative activities.

Maslow's Hierarchy of human needs premise was that one must satisfy lower deficit needs before one is able to progress upwards to meet higher level growth needs. Most people in the developing world never get past the very first basic needs. They are in a constant struggle for survival. Their safety and security is compromised by consistent conflict. Their educational potential and creative abilities are never actualized. The aggressive cycle of conflict and lack is a recurring one.
